Advanced Management Programme for Infrastructure

About AMPI

Building Leaders for India's Growth Story

The current industry trends have accelerated the need for infrastructure organisations to mobilise rapidly by strengthening their preparedness for crisis management and building resilient project and supply ecosystems.

This resilience is essential to safeguard operations against disruptions, maintain project timelines, and ensure continuity of critical services. Digitalisation and automation of infrastructure systems are the way forward—big data analytics, cloud computing, and IoT will play a crucial role in enhancing stakeholder coordination, managing large-scale projects, optimising asset performance, and streamlining logistics and resource deployment. Organisations will need to harness the power of interconnected digital infrastructure networks to improve efficiency, enable data-driven decision-making, and develop agile responses in the evolving operating environment.

Duration: 12 months | Location: Mohali and Hyderabad

AMPI Class of 2027

As the infrastructure sector reassesses its capabilities and redesigns itself to perform effectively under diverse and uncertain conditions, professionals at the middle and senior management levels must acquire skills beyond core technical expertise. Competencies such as innovation, data-driven decision-making, strategic planning, stakeholder management, negotiation, risk assessment, and integrated project management will be essential to remain relevant in a rapidly evolving and highly competitive environment. Strengthening these capabilities will enable leaders to drive sustainable development, enhance operational efficiency, and deliver resilient infrastructure that supports long-term economic growth.
